

If he damages your things

If he blackmails you

If he follows you

If he asks for love or sex when you don't want

If he pushes you and he slaps you

If he humiliates you

If he secludes you

If he frightens you

If he locks you in a room

If he offends you

If he hushes you

If he watches you

If he threatens you and your children

If he harms you

If he confines your freedom, also the economic one

...that's not love

If he unceasingly calls to insult you

If he kicks you, he punches you and he tears your hair

If he vexes you through an obsessive text

If he demands you "the last date"

Polizia di Stato

